The claims are 1-34.

The claims, as drawn, represent the two following patentably distinct inventions. Restriction to one of them is required. 35 USC 121.

Group A. Compounds, composition and method.

Group B. Process for preparation of compounds.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The compounds of Group A may be prepared by other than through the process of Group B. Additionally, each of Group A and Group B represent a separate statutory class which raise separate issues of patentability and separate considerations. Each will properly support separate patents. Each is separately classified and requires a separate search in the patents and on the computer. Applicants have the right to examination of a single invention not multiple inventions.
